

Time is a-running and before you know it, it's swap shop season again!

This time around why not bring your favourite holiday-themed lesson to share with each other? It could be an exercise, a warm-up or your ever-trusty thingamajig... anything you want to share with the others on a speed dating basis.

It would be great if you could bring a few copies with you, but we will be able to have limited access to a photocopier as well.

But as usual that is not all:

We've got another pub quiz to cap off the event and let you show (off) to the rest of the Hamburg English language teaching community how big of a brain you are in and outside the classroom!

There will be coffee and tea but feel free to bring snacks to share and anything else you would like to drink. It is a Christmas party after all!

Kris Kringle has also requested that everyone bring a small Secret Santa gift to share. These will be collected in a sack and at the end of the day, Kris Kringle will let you pick out one to take home with you. If you've been nice, you should go home with a nice one...

but if you've been naughty...!

29 November 2019 (Friday), 18:30

English Language Institute (ELI)
Rothenbaumchaussee 125,
20149 Hamburg

This is a free event.

Non-members are welcome.

Time is a-running and before you know it, it's swap shop season again!

This time around why not bring your favourite holiday-themed lesson to share with each other? It could be an exercise, a warm-up or your ever-trusty thingamajig... anything you want to share with the others on a speed dating basis.

It would be great if you could bring a few copies with you, but we will be able to have limited access to a photocopier as well.

But as usual that is not all:

We've got another pub quiz to cap off the event and let you show (off) to the rest of the Hamburg English language teaching community how big of a brain you are in and outside the classroom!

There will be coffee and tea but feel free to bring snacks to share and anything else you would like to drink. It is a Christmas party after all!

Kris Kringle has also requested that everyone bring a small Secret Santa gift to share. These will be collected in a sack and at the end of the day, Kris Kringle will let you pick out one to take home with you. If you've been nice, you should go home with a nice one...

but if you've been naughty...!

29 November 2019 (Friday), 18:30

English Language Institute (ELI)
Rothenbaumchaussee 125,
20149 Hamburg

This is a free event.

Non-members are welcome.